

Family

Part 1:

1. Do you have sisters and brothers? (siblings) If so, how many?

I come from a family of three, with one older sister and two younger brothers. While I am five years younger than my older brother Rahul, I am three years older than my younger sisters, Saumya and Priyansh.

2. How often do you meet with your family?

The night will be spent in the company of my parents. Therefore, I encounter them regularly. Unfortunately, none of us were able to get together because of our schedules during the day.

3. How do you spend time with your family?

For the most part, I prioritize quality time with my family and friends. However, I am unable to keep track of time while away from home for education. But when I go back home from college, I don't stay up too late telling my mom and dad about my day.

4. Do you want to live with your family in the future?

Since my parents are the strength behind my success, of course. It's my duty as a member of a nuclear family to take care of my family members. It's required by our customs and heritage.

5. Are you close to all of your family members?

Right from the start of my foster, I attempted to include my family members in all I did. It's a natural part of being a family and a vital part of keeping everyone close. These contribute to a more peaceful life at home.

6. How your family influenced you?

My family inspired me greatly. That always supports and encourages me. They offer advice on school, careers, and finances.

7. Do you get along well with your family?

Absolutely, the members of my family and I get along pretty smoothly. Because we have such a close connection with one another, we are a really happy family.

Part 2:

Describe a family member

Introduction:

A family member means a person who is close with us such as spouse, father, mother, child, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law or daughter-in-law. Today I am going to talk about one of my family members.

Who is this person?

The name of the person is Riya, my cousin. We both have been together since preschool. She is the only child of my mother's younger sister. We both know our weak points and strengths very well.

Describe something you have done together.

We have always done everything together, we attended the same school till class 12. Most of the time we used to study together because our tutors were also the same. We played together every day in the park close to my house because study schedules were essentially identical. Our connection deepened as we grew older.

Explain why you like this person

We have favourite family members for a variety of reasons. Some of them are enjoyable to be around, while others are understanding our issues and offering helpful counsel. Riya has always been a terrific buddy to me and has always come together for me. We have always had a close relationship because we are cousins and childhood buddies.

Conclusion

I always want to be with her. The confidence level she has that inspired me a lot, the way she tackles her problems are more impressive.

Part 3:

1. Is family important in your country?

Answer: In India family is very important and it is a part of the culture to stay with the family, unlike in some countries where parents and children live apart. There are a lot of family values that are taught to children and they grow up being fond of their family.

2. How has the size of the family changed in the last few decades in your country?

Answer: Earlier people in my place lived in large families. That included aunt, uncle, cousins, grandparents, and parents. Nowadays the situation has changed and homes have nuclear families only with parents and one or two children.

3. How do you think the family will change in the future?

Answer: Families will have a western influence and children will stay apart from their parents once they are mature and can live on their own. Relatives will see each other less often and relationships will not be as strong as it was before.

4. What role do grandparents play in the family in your country?

Answer: Grandparents are like our friends as people become more childish as they grow very old. We can easily confess anything to them and share any secrets with them that we can't tell our parents.
