

Shopping

Part 1:

1. Would you say that you enjoy going shopping?

Of course, going shopping is one of my favourite things to do. On the weekends of each week, in order to fill the time and to do something fascinating, I go shopping.

2. Do you compare prices when you shop?

Actually, no. When I go shopping, I just visit a single store, and I never check the costs of other things.

3. Is it difficult for you to make a choice when you shop?

It happens sporadically. But only when I am out shopping with someone else since there are moments when the other person causes me to become demented. Because of this, the majority of the time I prefer to go shopping by myself.

4. Do you enjoy shopping?

Shopping is both a great way to spend leisure time and a great method to serene the mind, so it's no surprise that I love it quite a lot.

5. What's your favourite shop?

I enjoy browsing apparel stores because of the variety of interesting and alluring products they have, the pressure to make a purchase, and the fun of discovering something new.

6. Do you like shopping on the internet?

I prefer shopping online and in person. I purchase electronics and home items when I don't have time, but I buy clothes in the local market after checking quality and size.

7. Is shopping a popular activity in your country?

It really depends on the person. Those who enjoy shopping are in the minority. Nonetheless, in my experience, young people like going grocery shopping, and they are perfectly competent in doing it on a regular basis.

Part 2:

Describe a thing you bought and you are happy about

Introduction

Well, I was a technology enthusiast from a very early age, I was captivated by computers and programming since my schooling days. So, for programming one needs to have a pc or a laptop to work on.

What you have bought?

It was last year, when I bought a laptop and I am proud that I made the decision to buy it. I consider that laptop has helped me in many aspects of my life as career, personal development and gaming too.

Why you have bought it?

The primary reason why I bought the laptop is for focusing on my career prospects as I want to become a software developer. Also, at that time, I was getting a good deal out of it as the laptop was available on a 30% discount.

Explain why you felt happy about it.

I felt extremely happy and lucky, because of that laptop, I started learning new programming languages which are going to decide my future and also the laptop came in handy during the lockdown phase, as everything was going online and working from home. Thus, my decision to buy the laptop was on point.

Conclusion

Hence, that laptop is a one time investment for me, which can be used for multiple purposes. My whole family uses it for their personal and professional work. So, it was a good choice and made me happy.

Part 3:

1. Is shopping a popular activity in your country?

Answer: Yes, people in my country love shopping. Shopping malls and shopping streets are usually busy during weekends. People like to go shopping with their friends and family to spend their free time and holidays. Rather than buying things when they want, going shopping has become a leisure activity.

2. How have shopping habits changed over recent years?

Answer: People's shopping habits have changed drastically over the past several years. People nowadays prefer to shop from online stores rather than going to shops. Online shopping is convenient and a cheaper option. I think the number of people going to shops has reduced. Other than that people see shopping as a fun activity.

3. To what extent do you think advertising affects the way people shop?

Answer: Advertising connects people's emotions to the product which makes them buy the product. It gives us a feeling that things are on sale for huge discounts through many offers. It gives a sense of feeling superior if we buy and use their products. Advertising affects the buying pattern of people.

4. Do you think shopping habits are likely to change in the future?

Answer: Shopping habits have always been changing throughout history. Technology is the main reason behind this change. Through technological advancements, companies have tried to give us a personalised shopping experience.
